NASBTT statement:
Tender for curriculum design and delivery of the early roll-out of the Early Career Framework

The Department for Education's invitation to tender for curriculum design and delivery of the early roll-out of the Early Career Framework in the pilot areas from September 2020 has today been published, with a deadline of 9th August 2019.

In response, NASBTT Executive Director Emma Hollis said: "We are delighted to note that the tender encourages partnership working. This means there is scope for providers to submit bids either as partnership leads or working in collaboration with others as a delivery partner. This early roll-out will be used as a test and learn phase after which new partnerships will be offered opportunities to become involved in national roll-out in September 2021. This national roll-out will reach around 50,000 early career teachers and mentors each year, meaning significant capacity will be needed for delivery. We believe there is a vital role for our members to play in this landscape, should they so wish."
